

TWO DEATHS AT OAKLAND.

The Oakland Neighborhood Called Upon to Attend Two Funerals.

Oakland, Iowa, Aug. 16.—We are having lots of rain, which will be very beneficial to the corn and late potatoes.

Miss Alice Zuinn, of near Ainsworth, is assisting her aunt, Mrs. John Dyche, with her household duties.

Mrs. Figg, of Muscatine, visited friends in this community the last of the week.

The aged Mr. Wiltrout is quite seriously sick, with little hopes of recovery.

Alonzo Diller and Miss Effie Warnstaff were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Fredonia, Sunday, Aug. 14, at 2 p. m. We wish the young couple a happy journey over life's rough seas.

Mrs. John Dyche is able to be out again.

Mr. Hartsing is suffering with rheumatism of the heart.

Death visited this vicinity Monday evening and called as its victim Mrs. Fremont Billicks. She leaves a husband, six children and many loving friends to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held at the Oakland church Tuesday, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. G. Milne. Interment in Beecham cemetery.

The funeral of James Bell was held at the Swank cemetery Tuesday at 10 a. m. James Bell died at his home southeast of Lone Tree Sunday night, after a brief illness of only three days, aged 14 years.

Iowa. Hatteries to be Discharged

Two Deaths At Oakland

part 3, p. 4, col. 5 Mrs. John Charles Fremont Billick (Elizabeth) died in August 1898, leaving six children. Buried in Beauchamp Cemetery. Family legend says that she suffered a hemorrhage while loading melons on a freight car, pregnant with their seventh child.