

LEGAL LUMPS.
Business Transacted in the District Court on Yesterday.

DIVORCE SUIT.
Mrs. Nellie A. Dayton yesterday filed a petition for a divorce, through her attorney Newman & Blake, from her husband, George E. Dayton, on the grounds of adultery, and unkind and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff avers that the defendant is worth from $20,000 to $50,000 in money and that she may be allowed alimony and temporary allowance, and a supplemental petition prays that an attachment may be issued against defendant's household goods in this city and other personal property for the sum of $10,000, and that any property of the defendant in this state may be levied upon without bond.

The court issued the following:
Nellie A. Dayton vs. George E. Dayton, in the district court.

A supplemental petition for attachment having been this day presented to me, the same is allowed, and the clerk is ordered to issue, without any bond attachments, to any county or counties in this state necessary to levy on property of defendant not exceeding in value the sum of $10,000, and any household goods levied on may be extended to plaintiff, she receiving therefor.

A. H. STUTSMAN, District Judge.

June 30, 1882.

The following other proceedings were had:

4165. James N. Martin vs. John W. Barnes; claim of $3,000. Allowed.

4179. Mary Crisp vs. Mark Crisp; divorce. Decree for plaintiff.

3920. N. S. Young vs. Holly Manufacturing company, of Lockport, New York; judgment for plaintiff for $30.00, and defendant accepts.

987. State. By consent of parties the state has sixty days from end of this term to file exceptions.

4189. First M. E. church vs. John Brady and F. Thal, judgment against defendant Thal cancelled.

The will of John McMaken was filed with the county clerk yesterday.

Andrew Pierson, a native of Sweden, was granted naturalization papers.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.
A Mt. Pleasant visitor mistakes the MERRY of Guinness for Wallin, the Swedish murderer.

Yesterday noon a Mt. Pleasant visitor to Burlington, while walking down Fourth street, observed the effigy of Gutten swinging to a telegraph pole opposite the engine house. He did not drop out the nature of the suspended object, dangling in the breeze. "Who has been hung?" he queried with a gasp.

A bystander replied that it was Wallin, the alleged murderer of Emily Fensell, who had been mobbed by an enraged populace.

"Well, who, who would have thought it," rejoined the Mt. Pleasant visitor after he had recovered somewhat from his astonishment. "I knew Wallin well in Mt. Pleasant and regret he has come to such an untimely end. I tell you, what, gentlemen, mob law is becoming too frequent a practice in this country, and measures should be taken to prevent it."

Our rural friend would not go near to what he supposed to be the body of Wallin, being half a block distant, as he never viewed the remains of dead people.

He walked off slowly disarticulating on man's afternoon at 2.30, to attend the funeral of Brother George W. Whitham. Excelsior, Harmonia and visiting brethren are invited.

THE CONTRACT LET.
The Union Passenger Depot to be completed by December 15, 1882. The contract for the construction of the union depot has been let to Mr. James M. McGaughey of Leavenworth, a gentleman of large experience in the erection of structures of this character. The contract calls for the completion of the building by December 15, 1882, and in order to fulfil this agreement work will be commenced immediately. Mr. McGaughey is the builder of the union depots at Atchison, Denver, Kansas City and Leavenworth. The plans and specifications as heretofore published in THE HAWK-EYE, will be carried out. The structure will be 204 feet in length, 55 feet in width, and will be two stories in height. The estimated cost is $75,000. The depot will be completed in every detail and will equal, if not surpass, in point of finish and elegance any in the west. Every accommodation that will promote the convenience and comfort of the traveling public will be provided. It will be a valuable acquisition and an honor to Burlington, and its completion at the time specified in the contract is guaranteed.
